

Glen-Gery York Plant Manager Mike Lighty stands next to the lime wastewater recycling system. Lime-laden wastewater enters the white tank and is filtered through a paper system to remove particulate matter. Filtered water then enters the blue 5K tank for storage and reuse in the making of Lorraine Whites, and is also used as cooling water for the packaging machine.